

CASO® FOOD FLAKES

Solvay Chemicals International SA declares that CASO® FOOD FLAKES is a synthetic calcium chloride of mineral origin intended for food uses.

Vegans are people who exclude from their diet any product of animal origin because vegans are affected particularly by the rights and the welfare of animals. In this context products have to be exclusively of vegetable or mineral origin and exclude the use of additives, reagents or ingredients of animal origin for their manufacture. Furthermore products tested on vertebrate animals for safety or other purposes are totally prohibited from use.

CASO® FOOD FLAKES is not from animal origin and the presence of any animal-derived material (raw materials, reagents, additives) is excluded from the whole manufacturing process. The production line and the processing equipment including storage areas and containers are dedicated to non-animal origin products and thus no cross-contamination with animal origin substances can be expected.

Moreover Solvay Chemicals International SA declares having neither co-sponsored nor sponsored testing of calcium chloride on animals (neither vertebrates nor invertebrates) after the year 1998.

We draw your attention to the fact that this voluntary declaration does not constitute a certificate granted by a competent organism or a certification body, nor is intended to serve for such purpose.
